

MSc in International Shipping, Logistics and Transportation

for the Maritime Silk Road Scheme

■ Program Objective

The international graduate program aims to provide students from developing countries with professional knowledge and comprehensive training on international shipping, maritime management, logistics and comprehensive transportation system, to set up international cooperation network, and to train high-level talents for government authorities and the industry.

■ Program Features

This is a specialist academic program with a multi-disciplinary curriculum.

Students learn through lectures, seminars, presentations, case studies and industrial visits.

Students are expected to acquire leadership skills and teamwork experience, as well as good writing and communication skills for international business.

■ Main courses

Core courses include: Transportation Economics, Transportation Infrastructure Construction and Maintenance, Transportation Planning and Management, Transportation Statistical Analysis and Modeling, Modern Logistics Principles and Experiments, Supply Chain Management, Maritime Management, International Maritime Policy and Regulation, Shipping Finance, International Shipping Management, International Project Management.

■ Business Visit, Internship and Project Practice

The Department has developed strong ties with the industries such as COSCO, China Shipping, China Railway Construction Group, Shanghai International Port Group, Shanghai Construction Group, Shanghai Metro, Shanghai Airport etc. and will provide extensive business visit, internship and project practice opportunities for overseas students.